

To whom it may concern,

I had the pleasure of teaching and being thesis supervisor of Nelson in his years of Bachelor in Business Informatics in Kalmyk State University, Elista, Russian Federation. From the first day of class he impressed me being only foreign student in the classroom. Though his behavior was hard to differ from local students, he adapted to the new environment momentarily.

Nelson is talented at considering the concepts and syllabus of Business Informatics are hard enough to gain an understanding of. He produced an extraordinary year-long thesis paper on "The Use of Computer Technology for Intensification of Business Processes in the Field of Forecasting" in which he compared different options and synthesized available and perspectives through analysis. When called upon to give her thesis defense in front of her peers, Nelson spoke clearly and eloquently about his conclusions and responded to questions in a thoughtful way.

Outside of the classroom, Nelson is dedicated to his active student life, especially to volunteering. He took part in multiple student organizations, discussions, conferences as well as in scientific projects. He is an insightful, sensitive, and deeply self-aware individual driven to explore everything that is possible.

I am certain that Nelson is going to continue to do great and creative things in his future. I highly recommend this person's acceptance in any university or workplace. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions at
